

Elite Combo Multiple Bets in Race.

There has been chat regarding the two-bet Elite Combo races.

There were three Two-Bet races in Melbourne on Saturday - they only come up in Melbourne.

Let's analyse these races to give a clear picture so you can decide whether you want to bet in those multiple bet races or not.

We have data on the current-algorithm Elite Combo going back to 2021. The bets from this algorithm went live in September 20025.

Here is the live data for those live two-bet races.

Note: This data is sourced from your "Elite-Combo-2021-2026-Members Spreadsheet"

19 Races with two Elite Combo bets.

11 winners from the 38 bets.

That's a winner in 58% of those races.

Ave win-div $3.43 (below long-term average).

Bet $4,570

Return $4,369

LOSS $201

Digging into those 19 live races a bit deeper:

Of course, simply looking at those stats, one would probably decide to bet only the Top-Elite-Rated horse in those multiple-bet races plus all the single-bet races.

Analysis of the thousands of Melbourne Elite Combo bets back to 2021 paints a different picture.

Bottom Line

The races with two Elite Combo bets make a lot of money in the long-term.

We know some members hate betting on two horses in a race. It's your call but you will be giving up a lot of income if you bar the two-bets races.

Maybe read the Don Scott books to see how many horses that respected professional would bet in a race.

It's been a slow start for the two-bet races so far in the live period. They are $201 in the red.
In April-May-June-July 2024 they lost $1,698 in a losing streak!

Here is a quick example of the data at your fingertips. If you can click on a drop-down box, you can do this. No Excel knowledge required.

We have filtered the “CLM” (claim) column to isolate the 2kg and 3kg apprentices who rode our Elite Combo bets.

And we restricted this ‘look’ to races where they rode from barrier 9 or wider.

Filter apprentice claims to include only 2 and 3kg.

The outcome of that simple filter is instantaneous.

The apprentices have been good to us overcoming their wide barriers.
