

How Does Elite Ratings Top-2 Dominance Affect Multi Betting?

It was great to have a nice Elite-Combo win on Saturday. From four races, Rue De Royale did the job at nicely $6.00 along with Terilee at short odds. +5.42% bank gain.

Nationwide finished just behind for the day.

Elite Melbourne Ratings Top-2 Ratings Accuracy

We have reported in recent newsletters that the Melbourne Top-Raters and Second-Top raters are winning at well above industry norms with way beyond industry average odds.

Any good rating service should find the winner in the top-2 rated selections about 38% of the time.

Of course most services don't bother to keep records, for good reason, so you would assume they are way below the 38% threshold.

Others that we have monitored do get close to 38% top-2 winners but at very low average winning odds (around $3.50).

This season, Elite Ratings Melbourne have rated a total of 264 races.

The performance of the top-2 looks like this (allowing for 9 late scratchings):

Elite Mel Top-2 Rated 2025-2026 season so far.

Top-Rated:

75 won from 260 bets @ $4.14 for a level $100 bet profit of $5,035.

2nd Rated:

52 won from 258 bets @ $5.23 for a level $100 bet profit of $1,385.

That's 127 winners from the 264 races = 48% winners in the top-2 @ $4.59.

Elite Mel Top-2 Rated this year, 2026 so far.

Top-Rated:

32 won from 101 bets. 31.7% winners @ $4.11 for a level $100 bet profit of $3,045.

2nd Rated:

21 won from 100 bets. 21.0% winners @ 5.75 for a level $100 bet profit of $2,075.

That's 53 winners from the 101 races = 52% winners in the top-2 @ $4.76.

These are amazing numbers over 260 races. Getting the winner in the top-2 at 50% is unheard of, especially considering the average odds of more than $4.50.

BUT we do not have a dedicated Top-2 strategy. Sure, many of the winners get through to the main plans but many don't.

One strategy we do have in place that snares those top-2 rated winners is our Elite Multi-Bets. That's using our recommended strategy which is included on every race-day message.

That strategy recommends taking three horses to win.

So, were thinking, if the top-2 are getting the winner in half the races, what is the third rater contributing?

Elite Mel THIRD Rated this year, 2026 so far.

10 winners from 99 bets! That's just 10.1% winners. Level stakes LOSS of $3,760.

Elite Melbourne's continued surge in Top-2 accuracy is making the third rater virtually redundant.

2026 Elite Melbourne Successful Multi bets

This is a list of all successful multis this year using our recommended method (3x9x9x12).

We don't keep a spreadsheet to record all the multi bets so we can't give exact profit reports.

This list of actual winning multis shows 45 First-4 successes from the 101 races.

The average 3x9x9x12 F4 cost of the 48 winning races was $839 (3x9x9x12)

That means that all 101 races this year would have cost $84,739.

The total return of the 45 successful top-3 multis is $93,024.

Net Profit + $8,285.

The average 2x9x9x12 F4 cost of the 48 winning races was $559.

That means all the 101 races this year would have cost $57,000.

The total return of the 40 successful top-2 multis is $89,000.

Net Profit + $32,000.

Only FIVE of the FORTY-FIVE First 4 payouts required the third rated horse.

53% came from Top-Rated. They averaged $1,609 (F4)

36% came from second rated. They averaged $3,147 (F4)

11% came from third rated. They averaged $803 (F4).

The cost of a first 4 using the recommended 3x9x9x12 is $1,512.

If you only take two to win, the cost is reduced to $1,008.

2x9x9x12 cuts the cost down to 67% of the 3x9x9x12 but is only giving up 11% of the collects.

And those third rated returns are averaging much less than the top and second-top collects.

Remember, you can flexi down to any amount you like.

Hopefully this snapshot of data helps members with any decision making in regard to multi betting using Elite Ratings.
